Exhibit title:

“Against the Grain”

featuring approximately 70 new images, most of which concern architecture:

- The Marin County Civic Center designed by Frank Lloyd Wright,
- Museum of Modern Art, San Francisco and its adjacent Yerba Buena Gardens.
- Views of the Art Deco Griffith Observatory, Los Angeles,
- Architectural views of the Golden Gate Park Botanical Conservatory, and
- Garden sculpture on the great lawn at the Huntington Library and Gardens, San Marino, CA.

Besides use of the technique called HDR (High Dynamic Range), these photographs offer some surprises for photographers and viewers alike.

Representative images are online at <http://www.studiolo.org/pix/gallery67.htm>

Robert Baron is a member of the Westchester Photographic Society and MAG. He is a frequent contributor to Westchester photographic exhibits, including shows at the White Plains Public Library, the Westchester Arts Council, and annual exhibits by the Eclectic Quintet at the Ossining Library. In 2007 he mounted a solo exhibit at the Harrison Library,

As an art historian, he recently addressed a seminar led by Professor Colin Eisler of the Institute of Fine Arts (NYU) on French Renaissance book illustration. It was prepared with books from the rare book collections of the New York Public Library and was held in the Library's Print Room.
